From the Cellar

The cool, dry, and harsh Mistral wind starts in the northwest of France and blows through the Rhône Valley, Languedoc, and Provence before sweeping across Corsica and Sardinia and into the Mediterranean, joining a broader European wind system.

These evocatively named winds — Mistral, Sirocco, Bora, Libeccio, and Levante — influence the microclimates of vineyard regions across Southern Europe, from Iberia to Italy to the Balkans, bending vines and growers to their will.

The small growers and producers represented here contend with the joys and challenges of these winds every day. Our selection of rotating wines by the glass highlights the dramatic impact of the wind system we've named ourselves after, not always from these exact regions, but always chosen for the same spirit, influence, and sense of place.

Tableside Shakerato

choose your own aperitivo / amaro

Inspired by Italy's caffè shakerato—espresso shaken hard with ice and a touch of sweetness until it turns silky and frothy—we borrowed the technique and gave it the Le Mistral treatment.

Instead of coffee, we take any bitter, amaro, or herbal spirit you love and shake it ice-cold right at the table. The result is a softer, brighter, more aromatic expression of the bottle, with a natural foam that lets the spirit show you a different side of itself.

Pure, simple, a little dramatic—just letting the spirit shine.
